Rimidi Social Impact Spring Internship
Role Description

Rimidi is a digital health company which specializes in developing platforms for chronic disease management. The mission of Rimidi's Community Health initiative is to break the cycle of predetermined health outcomes in medically underserved communities by providing better access to care and education through innovations. Our social impact model is to support, educate, and engage the medically underserved community.

Rimidi would like to place an intern from the MBA/MPH, MPH, or MSPH graduate program for February 2019-May 2019.

We are more focused on character, work ethic, and curiosity than experience. The intern will be guided in the parameters/objectives of various tasks but must demonstrate an ability to shape projects autonomously as well. This is a great learning opportunity for the right candidate, touching a range of functional areas, but focusing primarily on project coordination, grant writing, and community-based participatory research.

Key Activities:
1. Organizing, coordinating, and planning operational facets of community-focused programs and its related activities
2. Developing work plans to accomplish program goals and objectives and monitor progress toward their achievement
3. Conducting research and gathering information to develop various publications
4. Developing promotional materials which may include content for reports, briefings, newsletters, grants, or other written information related to the program.
5. Assisting with developing and coordinating program-related meetings
6. May assist in identifying funding resources and developing fund-raising strategies and initiatives
7. Preparing operational and statistical reports

Internship is part-time (10-20 hours per week) and is be paid bi-weekly at a rate of $15/hour.

Interested candidates should submit their cover letter and resume to Lucienne Ide, MD, PhD, lucie@rimidi.com, and Tara Davis, tara@rimidi.com by Tuesday November 13, 2018.
